Part 2: Educational Aims of the Programme

Students reading for an honours degree in International Horseracing Business will develop knowledge and understanding of key business and commercial principles within a range of pure and applied modules. Current issues within industry are integrated to reflect the needs of industry and of society. Taught modules provide underpinning knowledge and understanding alongside a framework for research, whilst the industry-based modules develop application of core theoretical principles.

The programme therefore aims to:

1. Build on basic scientific principles to develop knowledge and understanding of the commercial horseracing industry and uses this knowledge to study horseracing and allied industries in the context of the present day global environment.
2. Enable students to acquire knowledge and an understanding of the contemporary business environment to underpin skills used to effective purpose in the management and business roles within a commercial horseracing organisation.
3. Provide students with the opportunity to think constructively and critically, discuss and evaluate concepts in business subjects, propose sound and reasoned solutions to problems and show clear development of these skills as a result of the programme.
4. Enable students to make effective contributions to the commercial development and direction of a horseracing or other operation.
5. Provides students with the ability to transfer skills to different working environments through placement opportunities within the horseracing industry.
6. Give the students the opportunity to design, construct and undertake vocationally relevant research relevant to the field of international horseracing.
7. Provide students with the ability to transfer skills to different working environments, forming the foundation for a range of careers in the commercial horseracing and allied industries.
8. Provide students with opportunities to develop knowledge and skills which will enable them to anticipate and adapt to the changing demands of business and society.

Programme requirements for the purposes of the Higher Education Achievement Record (HEAR)

Graduates from this programme have been exposed to experience, expertise and practice in and from the commercial horseracing and allied industries. As such, they will have developed a wide range of transferable business skills and commercial acumen alongside the ability to effectively communicate with a wide range of stakeholders. A high level of self-awareness alongside an understanding of the importance of customer service will enable graduates to network, negotiate and delegate successfully whilst being able to effectively work as part of a professional team. This, alongside periods of relevant work placements enables strong application skills of synthesising theory to practice.

Part 5: Student Learning and Student Support

Teaching and learning strategies to enable learning outcomes to be achieved and demonstrated

At Hartpury, there is a commitment for a minimum average requirement of 15 hours/week contact time over the foundation year and Year One and 12 hours/week contact time over the course of the full undergraduate programme. This contact time encompasses a range of face: face activities as described below. In addition a range of other learning activities will be embedded within the programme which, together with the contact time, will enable learning outcomes to be achieved and demonstrated.

As well as engaging in an extensive strategy of commercial racing industry visits to enable students to experience real world application of theory in practice, including but not limited to visits to racecourses, race meetings, sales and the opportunity to engage in a racing focused study trip.

On the BA (Hons) International Horseracing Business Management programme teaching is a mix of scheduled, independent and placement learning:

Scheduled learning: May include lectures, seminars, tutorials, project supervision, demonstration, practical classes and workshops; fieldwork; and external visits. Scheduled sessions may vary slightly depending on the module choices made. Within the Foundation Year a feature will be the facilitated workshops enabling students to benefit from individual and small-group study.

Independent learning: May include hours engaged with essential reading, case study preparation, assignment preparation and completion etc. These sessions constitute an average time per level as indicated in the table below. Scheduled sessions may vary slightly depending on the module choices made.

Placement learning: Will include an optional placement year and students may elect to study abroad as part of this programme. By the end of the course these students will have benefitted from completing work experience with opportunities to reflect upon their personal development and improving levels of skills relevant to their programme. This experience will give each student a valuable insight into different aspects of industry (national or international) and may have helped formulate ideas of possible careers available following graduation.

Description of the teaching resources provided for students

Students can access various resources which are used on a commercial basis by the Therapy Centre on-site at the institution. This includes; the overland equine high-speed treadmill, the equine water treadmill, the canine water treadmill and hydrotherapy pool, visiting therapists, and qualified on-site animal therapists. Students will also have the opportunity to engage with placements within the other commercially run faculties on site such as the marketing and the events management team. Alongside this, students will also be able to make use of a network of placements and opportunities supported by the Innovation, Careers and Enterprise team.

Having entry points into both a Foundation Year and Level One, enables the programme experience to facilitate the development of a successful undergraduate supporting a wide range of study backgrounds. The Foundation Year will prepare students with general study skills and opportunities to develop subject specific skills and knowledge. Additionally the Foundation year includes an internship enabling a student to put their skills into practice and develop an early appreciation of employment opportunities and attributes necessary for enhanced employability.

In addition, students will engage in an extensive strategy of racing industry visits to enable students to experience real world application of theory in practice, including but not limited to visits to racehorse trainers, race meetings, sales, studs, veterinary practices and the opportunity to engage in a racing focused study trip.

Description of any Distinctive Features

The purpose of the programme contained in this submission for validation is to provide a balanced vocational and academic study that is intellectually challenging, vocationally relevant, and provides a foundation for pursuing a career within the equine-related industries.

The BA (Hons) International Horseracing Business programme provides a robust underpinning of the core business principles coupled with a sound knowledge of the contemporary commercial horseracing industry and applied sports management competencies. Option modules allow students to specialise and tailor their programme to specific areas and career interests within the racing industry or outside it. It is designed to expose students to real-world commercial racing practice, with opportunities embedded at all levels to engage with industry in teaching, observing practice and during study trips. This approach will provide a balanced vocational and academic study that is intellectually challenging, vocationally relevant, and provides a foundation for pursuing a career within racing and other allied industries.

This programme also incorporates a compulsory work placement period, allowing students to observe and to put theory into practice. A work based approach allows students to gain valuable relevant work experience, which in turn enhances their employability.

Academic support is provided by the teaching team for each individual module for module specific support needs. Additionally, each student cohort is allocated an academic tutor for the academic year. Students will see their tutor regularly throughout the semester in study skills sessions in smaller groups, and at least twice a semester on an individual basis. The individual tutorials allow students to discuss more specific needs or concerns with their tutor, and allows tutor feedback on academic progress and engagement.

In this Honours degree programme, academic knowledge and understanding will reinforce and support the development of industry and transferable skills to equip the student with the knowledge base and skills relevant to this very broad area of applied business management. The programme prepares graduates for the future needs of the horseracing industry in the UK and abroad, the nature of the academic programmes gives students the opportunity to work within the industry during vacation periods which will be encouraged to add to their personal vocational and practical skills in addition to knowledge base.

Overall, the programme combines the development of knowledge via teaching, research and practical skills to develop a graduate who can make an effective contribution to the equine related industries. It has been shown that the balance of skills developed on the programme will also enable graduates to gain employment in other occupational areas, if they so wish.

Part 6: Assessment

This module will be assessed according to the Academic Regulations published for the academic year on the website <http://www.hartpury.ac.uk>

The distinctive module used by the Programme Examination Board to inform recommending differential awards for students when considering borderline performance profiles will be: Undergraduate Dissertation.

Assessment Strategy

Assessment strategy to enable the learning outcomes to be achieved and demonstrated:

Assessment within the Foundation Year had been designed to prepare a student for the assessment to come in following years. As such, it demonstrates a breadth of type and gradual introduction to the expectations for HE level study.

The robust business nature of the BA (Hons) International Horseracing Business Programme (IHRB) enables students be exposed to commercial experiences both in and out of the industry to broaden their remit. As such the assessment strategy mirrors the skill-set that a graduate will require in order to succeed in the business arena. The assessment strategy has been designed to mirror real-life experiences in a commercial operation, developing key-graduate attributes of communication, customer service and commercial acumen through the three levels. Through levels four and five students are exposed to a mixture of group and individual assessments, with a bias towards oral and written so that they can be exposed to complex situations and develop their presentation, self-awareness and team-working skills. At level six, students have the opportunity to refine this skill-set in order to produce a graduate who can confidently research in order to effectively network, negotiate and sell under pressure in an individual assessment setting.

The range and types of assessments should measure appropriately students' achievement of the knowledge, skills and understanding identified in the learning outcomes. As part of this programme, students complete a compulsory work placement in their second year of study. Their experiences from this work placement are likely to form the basis for ideas for their dissertation project in their third year of study. The portfolio for the compulsory level four module will combine a number of areas of development, including practical skill development and the enhanced recognition and development of transferable skills. This develops in compulsory level five and six modules in order to ensure a continuing level of self-reflection and development throughout the programme. The inclusion of a range of commercial horseracing industry-focussed assessments across all levels encourages the development of well-rounded graduates from this programme.

In line with the institutions commitment to facilitating equal opportunities, a student may apply for alternative means of assessment if appropriate. Each application will be considered on an individual basis taking into account learning and assessment needs. For further information regarding this please refer to the VLE.
