Alongside this, we have a comprehensive bank of online study skills resources to help you make the most of your qualification.

Your learning experiences

You'll experience a range of teaching methods to strengthen your digestion of topics, including lectures, workshops and practical sessions, as well as supported work placement learning as part of many courses.

Your career

Each year of your course will be made up of two semesters, within which you'll study compulsory and optional modules on different industry-focused topics, enabling you to develop your own unique portfolio of knowledge, skills and experience, ready for your career. The course is taught in English.

Modules

Overview

What you'll study

This course covers a broad range of fundamental business and management topics through core modules, in finance, economics, and marketing.

This course is comprised of both compulsory and optional modules, which you'll be able to choose from to suit your interests and career goals.

Optional modules change each year in line with student, industry and research demands - you'll find recent topics studied below. You can attend introductory sessions for optional modules before deciding which ones to study.

Module credits

On successful completion of your modules you'll gain academic credit that accumulates towards your award. The marks you gain in your second and final years may contribute towards your final degree classification.

Level four (year one)

This year will provide you with core business skills and knowledge, covering finance, economics, and marketing. You'll also be introduced to the sports industry, studying contemporary issues linked to the business and management of sport.

Compulsory Modules

Personal and Management Development

Develop a knowledge and understanding of leadership styles, delegation, motivation, conflict resolution, negotiation and influence.

Introduction to the Sports Industry

Analyse the role and nature of public provision for sport and leisure, and the way in which government policy is decided and implemented.

Understanding the Business and Economic Environment

Analyse external factors and how they contribute to fluctuations in business economics.

Contemporary Issues in Sport Management

Demonstrate knowledge of emerging trends and recommend future improvements relevant to the sports management industry.

Introduction to Technology in Sport

Understand and evaluate the impact of technology in sport in relation to improved athletic performance.

Introduction to the Principles of Marketing

Understand the importance of market orientation as a cross-functional activity relating to business operations.

Understanding Business and Financial Information

Study various financial statements and their use.

Level five (year two)

In the second year you'll gain advanced business knowledge and experience by designing and running a pilot research project, as well as engaging in a professional work placement for a minimum of 150 hours. You'll also have the chance to select optional modules linked to your interests. You could explore entrepreneurship, consumer behaviour, human resources and accounting.

Compulsory Modules

Research in Professional Practice

Analyse the various stages of the research process demonstrating practical application of an appropriately reasoned research model.

Professional Placement Experience

Identify and undertake a suitable industry work placement for a minimum of 150 hours.

Optional Modules

Accounting Information for Business

This module is designed to help undergraduate appreciate the role of management accounting within organisations, it majors upon capital investment, product and service costing, budgeting and working capital management.

Human Resource Management

This module enables students to explore the holistic human resource process of recruitment within organisations. As part of the assessment students will have the opportunity to develop and engage in 'real life' assessment centre activities, creating vital preparation for future employment opportunities.

International Sports Development

The international sports development module offers a critical gaze into the global affairs of sport, considering the roles of local, national, regional and international players in a variety of contexts. This module enables critical thinking about sports development programmes and their impact across policy and practice.

New Venture Creation

This module allows students to explore the principles and practices faced by entrepreneurs whilst working through the process of developing a new commercial venture. The assessment offers students the chance to engage with their own new business idea and present to both business professionals and academic staff in a 'dragon's den' style pitch.

Sports Facilities and Hospitality Management

Sports facilities and hospitality management is a key and growing area within the sports business industry. This module allows students creative freedom to audit and review a sports facility of their choice, before making recommendations and providing a strategic direction. The students are also challenged to identify a secondary income stream associated with sports tourism for a major sporting venue.

The Sport Service Environment

This module allows students to explore the evolving concept of service quality within the sports industry. They have the opportunity to investigate different fan typologies and analyse how these influence typical consumption behaviours. The assessment creates a 'live brief' situation where students will research a specific sports context and conceptualise a new consumer experience utilising a range of digital technologies.

Placement year (optional)

An optional integrated placement year between your second and final years gives you the opportunity to put your skills and knowledge into practice and gain valuable industry experience through an approved placement provider.

Level Six (final year)

Your final year allows you to focus on the areas that interest you most and will support you with your career. One module is dissertation, a substantial research project that enables you to experience being responsible for planning, implementing and reporting on a specialist topic. In addition, you'll be exposed to contemporary challenges and more advanced business theory. You'll also gain an insight into strategy, project management, sponsorship and social media.
